My vision

I was born in Nepal and went to school there. I got scholarship to study medicine in India and came to the UK in 1991. I trained in Sheffield where I did MD by research in Diabetes. I was appointed consultant at Lancashire Teaching Hospital in 2001 where I developed multi-disciplinary diabetic foot service. I have travelled extensively to look at how diabetes service works. Diabetic foot problem is badly managed in many parts of the world and I want to work with DFSG to improve diabetic foot treatment across the globe. I want all people with diabetes to have intact 10 toes.

PUBLICATION

I have published more than 50 articles in peer reviewed journals.
